

The Acceasy project in Easy Reading

What is Acceasy?

Acceasy is a project which aims to make Europe's heritage more accessible from a cognitive point of view. Heritage is the assets or things of value that a country has. Many people with intellectual disabilities do not understand information or history or get lost in the spaces and cannot enjoy the heritage. For example: Cathedrals or museums.

Who forms Acceasy?

Associations from various European countries:

- Fundacion Aspanias Burgos from Spain
- E-code from Slovakia
- Egina y Acapo from Italy
- IMS and the Autism Association Cyprus

What Acceasy does?

- Making 5 of Europe's monuments cognitively accessible from a cognitive point of view.
- Easy-to-read heritage definitions in 5 different languages.
- An online guide and training on accessibility and heritage
- Training for educators and tourism workers on accessible heritage.
- Create a group of European organisations to work on cognitive accessibility.
